

LEADING AS A HOST

6 New ~~Rules~~ Roles of Engagement for Teams, Organisations, Communities, & Movements

Dr. Mark
McKergow

24-25 Aug 2015
9am - 4:30pm
The York Hotel
Singapore

Key Benefits

- Develop your 'leadership agility' - to do the things YOU can do to engage others to the maximum!
- Develop 'stepping back' awareness - and thereby drawing others forward
- Gain clarity on phases and actions - see clear cycles and projects rather than a single continuing stream
- Gain an increased sense of good timing - when to act, as well as what to do
- Gain new perspectives on challenging situations - acting differently to get a better result
- Increase your options - in terms of 'up-front' leadership, taking the overview from the balcony, and developing yourself backstage

Day 1 Programme

- What is 'host leadership?' (Big Picture)
- Needs and Context of Leadership Today
- Flexibility, Agility, & Complexity
- 'User's Guide to the Future' Uncovered
- Four Positions of a Host (Viewpoints)
- Six Roles of Engagement (Ways to Act)

Day 2 Programme

- Real-life Leadership Challenges & Situations - Bring your scenarios, and we'll work through them together with a reflecting team, spotlight coaching, and other methods!

Join us for a 2-day event with Dr. Mark McKergow (www.sfwork.com/), author of 'Host.' Together we will explore the role of host within modern leadership thinking, and present a framework for enhancing our leadership and hosting behaviour!

The metaphor of leader as host offers a view on leadership that is at once rooted in millenia of practice, and at the same time something new and timely. The key role of the host - someone who receives and entertains guests - is deeply embedded in human society worldwide. The act of inviting someone, of welcoming them, of responding to their needs whilst taking responsibility for their safety - gives us a new view of many dimensions of leadership.

This is a wonderful opportunity to work up-close with Mark, and to join in with the growing interest and community around the 'leader as host' ideology. Expect a lively and participative time!

Each participant will receive a signed copy of 'Host: Six New Roles of Engagement' (www.hostleadership.com/book/). Tea breaks and lunch are included.
